

Question ID: 1996c104

Question

The liquid metals in Earth's core circulate constantly, and this circulation generates electrical currents that flow between Earth's North and South magnetic poles. These electrical currents, _____ create a barrier around Earth that protects us from radiation and charged particles coming from space.

Which choice completes the text with the most logical transition?

Answer

- A. in turn,
- B. likewise,
- C. nevertheless,
- D. in reality,