

Question ID: 290a5d77

Question

Guard cells are specialized cells that are part of a plant's pores. These cells help regulate the amount of carbon dioxide a plant takes in. _____ they help regulate a plant's water loss.

Which choice completes the text with the most logical transition?

Answer

- A. Additionally,
- B. Previously,
- C. In conclusion,
- D. Instead,